Dear Committee Members:

It is with tremendous pride and wholehearted conviction that I recommend Betty Baird Kregor for induction into the Kentucky Golf Hall of Fame's Class of 2009. A PGA standout, LPGA teaching professional, successful entrepreneur, community ambassador, speaker, writer, family woman and a true role model to Kentucky residents, Betty exemplifies whom the Hall's mission aims to honor-individuals in Kentucky with significant achievements and accomplishments in various areas of golf.

I had the wonderful opportunity to meet Betty years ago at one of the great Fuzzy Zoeller's charity golf events. As we developed a rapport, it did not take long for me to recognize her talent, professionalism, ambition and commitment to giving of herself to others. Not only have I personally learned to improve my golf game under Betty's tutelage, but I have also had the inspiring experience of witnessing the impact she has on children. Her passion for the game is contagious as she donates much of her time to kids of all backgrounds.

As a former professional athlete and active businessman throughout Kentucky's communities, I appreciate Betty's ability to cultivate a career in golf following her playing days. Establishing Betty Baird Kregor Golf Instruction and Straightshot, Inc. College Athletic Advisors, she enabled herself to hone her lifelong love of golf with her business savvy. Today, her businesses are thriving, all while she remains involved in a host of community projects and raises four children with her husband.

Her accolades on the green clearly speak for themselves, but it's the well-rounded woman that Betty Baird Kregor is that defines her. For these reasons and many more, I believe she would prove to be a valuable, deserving and fitting member of the Kentucky Golf Hall of Fame.

Sincerely,

Junior Bridgeman

FUZZY ZOELLER PRODUCTIONS, INC.

To Whom It May Concern:

We would like to nominate Betty Baird Kregor for the 2008 Kentucky Hall of Fame. After reviewing the guidelines, we feel you will see that she stands at the top of the golf industry in almost every category.

She has accomplished so many achievements in golf from a very young age to the present. She captured the National Pee Wee Championship in 1969, the individual state championship while playing at Kentucky Country Day in 1979, and was an All-American that same year. She went on to play at the collegiate level for the University of Alabama and is a LPGA Teaching Professional.

Her display of integrity for the love of the game has leaded her to accomplish ownership in three of her own golf companies. All of them geared at promoting Golf at any age. Her community involvement and commitments to the Kentucky area express her gratitude for the opportunity to give back and to share her many talents. Along with all her many local, state, national, and world championships, we feel she is more than a champion.

To all her family, friends and business acquaintances, we would call her a "Treasure." She is a wonderful person, and Kentucky would be proud to have in the Golf Hall of Fame.

Sincerely,

Fuzzy and Diane Zoeller

BETTY'S A GOLF CHAMP

RRCC CELEBRITY NEWS: Our own Betty Baird, all 64 pounds of her, pounded out a sparkling 116 to win her age division (8 and 9 year olds) in the National Pee Wee Tournament at Orlando, Fla. on July 28th and 29th. She broke the course record by 11 strokes and was 11 better than her nearest rival. Just Great, Betty. When are you putting on your Blazer?

Lexington Golfers Dominate Juniors

FRANKFORT, Ky. — A couple of Lexingtonians fired the low 18 holes scores in the PGA Junior Golf Tournament yesterday at Juniper Hill course.

Jim Byington paced the boys' 16-17 age group with his 69 and Myra Van Hoose was best among the girls with 77. Miss Van Hoose was in the 14-15 age group, but her score was lower than that of Patti Wilson, Henderson, who was the leader in the 16-17 group. Miss Wilson had an 82.

State PGA Junior Leaders

BOYS

11 and Under (18 holes) — 1. Russ Cochran, London, 41; 2. Jodie Mudd, Louisville, 42.
12-13 — 1. Mickey Poy, Paducah, 74; 2. Byron Price, Owensboro, 78.
14-15 — 1. Carmello Bonassi, Frankfort, 71; 2. Asier Wallman, Louisville, 72.
16-17 — 1. Jim Byington, Lexington, 67; 2. Gerni Bonhart, Lexington, 70.

GIRLS

11 and Under (18 holes) — 1. Diana Tuttle, Frankfort, 54; 2. Betty Baird, Louisville, 54 (Dianne won playoff).
12-13 — 1. Debbie Douglas, Henderson, 71; 2. Jenny Smith, Ashland, 83.
14-15 — 1. Myra Van Hoose, Lexington, 77; 2. Becky Hensley, Fort Mitchell, 81 (defeated Woezie Crawford, Louisville, in playoff).
16-17 — 1. Patti Wilson, Henderson, 82; Joan Ruer, Louisville, 87.

Girl Is A Champion Golfer At 9 Yrs Of Age

Betty Baird is too young and too small to be a caddy. Besides, she's too busy breaking golf course records herself.

The 9-year-old blonde from Louisville, Ky., may be the biggest threat to Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus, if they wait around long enough. And the 4-foot-6, 94-pounder says: "I get the most fun beating boys."

Betty has been whacking the ball long and straight since she was five. Recently, she toyed with her competitors in the eight-nine age group in the National Pee Wee Golf Championship in Orlando, Fla.

Betty fired a 116 for 18 holes, 11 strokes better than the 24-year-old tourney's record for her age group.

And what's more amazing, Betty overcame 10 penalty shots in shattering the record.

Betty got interested in the game by mocking her sister, Gee, a coed at the University of Louisville, who usually shoots in the low 80s. But now, the sisterly rivalry is dead serious.

"She'll be beating Gee by next year," said Art Leighman, the golf pro at the River Road Course near Betty's home. "I'm not kidding. She'll work that hard at it and she's that good."

Betty says she's been serious about pursuing a golf career for the past two years. "I want to play anywhere, anytime I can," she said. "But because of my age I can't get into many tournaments."

Meanwhile, young Betty is seen practicing whenever she can and consistently improving on her already remarkable scores.

"When I'm old enough I'll enter every tourney I can," she modestly boasted.

BETTY BAIRD KREGOR

Betty Baird Kregor was an outstanding golfer at Ballard and Kentucky Country Day High Schools. Baird Kregor was a three-time state individual runner-up, beginning in the seventh grade in 1974. She won the Junior World Championship in 1974 and captured top individual honors at the 1979 KHSAA State Golf Championship. She was runner-up at the 1976 Girls' Western National Championship and later an AJGA All-America honoree in 1979. Baird Kregor went on to enjoy a successful career at the University of Alabama and at the time of her induction, she continues to devote her talents as a teaching professional at Fuzzy Zoeller's Covered Bridge Golf Club.
