

U.S. Kids Golf will be presenting its day-long Certified Coach Seminar in the Kentucky Section on Wednesday, October 14 at Audubon Country Club in Louisville. PGA Members attending the program receive 8 MSR credits for the day and an additional 2 MSR credits for completing the optional online certification requirements.

Participating in a U.S. Kids Golf Certified Seminar enhances the instructor's knowledge of all aspects of youth golf coaching while providing tools to enable professionals to grow their programs. Areas of focus during the seminar include:

Enhancing Current Junior Programs: Tools, resources, best practices and bringing "fun" to junior programs through a games-based curriculum. The seminar features outdoor "live coaching" sessions to demonstrate game-based learning.

Learning Program Use—Details for creating a sequenced learning program to enhance the student's experience are provided.

Equipment: Information on correct club length for a proper fit along with other important aspects of club design to maximize success for both young golfers and their instructors will be presented.

Developing Swing Speed and Power: Proprietary research and information on swing speed development and tools to help kids learn a golf swing at a young age that can last a lifetime will be shared.

Course Yardages: Research regarding proper length of course set up for players based on the length they can achieve will be provided so that instructors become experts in golf course setup and yardages.

Analysis of Youth Golf Participation: Data will be shared showing how golf stacks up to other youth sports and the commonalities found in those sports and opportunities that exist for golf.

The cost of the Certified Coach Seminar is $195 (early registration by October 7) or $245 (for late registration.) Discounts are provided for multiple registrations from the same facility. This fee includes the day-long seminar at Audubon including all seminar materials, luncheon, optional online training and testing, and the U.S. Kids Golf Book of Games.
